Subject: A Haunting in Pollock Pines: Ghost Mountain Ranch Sat Jan 26, 2008 2:26 pm QUOTE

I guess I have always had an interest in the paranormal. I remember as a little kid living in Monterey, I purposely went to the Robert Louis Stevenson House, because it was reputed to be haunted. I was a curious kid with a strong appetite for the paranormal and on a certain day way back when, I was playing hooky from school and decided to visit the Robert Louis Stevenson House. I guess at that young age of 13, I was already a ghosthunter. I have sought out the paranormal by visiting places like the Winchester Mystery House, the Mystery Spot in Santa Cruz, Tombstone's OK Corral, the Tower of London, London's infamous East End, the Bridge over River Kwai in Thailand and many other places that have a reputation of being haunted.

Even when I am home, I have sought out the paranormal in my own living quarters. I have taken hundreds of pictures of my home and never got one orb picture, let alone an ectoplasm type of picture. Now, let me digress, just recently I took a picture of my first orb. It was taken in the family room of my house.
With my luck it's only a dust orb and no ghosts followed me home.

Recently I had the pleasure of meeting a new HPI paranormal investigator/video choreographer named Bryan Coleman. He recently went on a scouting mission with some HPI members and I, to Covelo. It's nice to have a guy like Bryan working with the team and I look forward to more film footage that he captures while working with us on various investigations.

When I am not ghosthunting, I enjoy reading books that deal with the paranormal. I will discuss two books that I am reading right now. The first book is 'Dark Mission: The Secret History of NASA by Richard C.
Hoagland and Mike Bara'. There are some incredible photographs of the landscape of the moon, that seem artificial in design, such as The Shard (an anomalous vertical lunar feature that casts its own shadow - proving that something is actually there and it's not a photograph aberration). The Tower, The Castle (some sort of geometric object of unusual design), Crisium Spire, Face on Mars, Data's Head (a head that looks like Star War's CP30 head - no kidding!) and Zond 3 Dome (a possible glass dome?). Richard also discusses NASA's ties with the former SS Nazis and the direct ties it has with Freemasonry. This is a must read!

Another book I am reading is The Sirius Mystery by Robert Temple. This book looks at the Dogon tribe in Africa and how this tribe confirmed that there was a third star system in Sirius, something that our astronomers were unaware of and later were able to confirm. In this book you will find out why Sirius B is so important and how amphibious creatures with fish tails founded the Babylon and Dogon culture. Yes!
These amphibious creatures have a direct connection to Sirius and perhaps this is where our mermaid legends come from. With this book it tells about the return of the Nommos, that almost falls in the same category of the legend of the second coming. A very intriguing book that is hard to put down!

Now that I talked a bit about my early childhood and my fascination with the paranormal and a couple of books that I am reading, let's talk about the Pollack Pines Investigation. Today is Sunday, December 23, 2007 and I am picking up fellow HPI paranormal investigator Chris Grissom and we are headed in my vehicle 'Ghost Tracker' to Nancy Bradley's office and home in Placerville. There we will team up with Nancy's husband Robert Reppert's paranormal investigative team called Gold Rush Ghosts. As I arrive at Chris Grissom's home, I show him an email printout. It's an email that I recently received and I found it quite interesting. The guy who sent me the email claims he worked with the fire department in Mexico and he was sent out to locate three missing students. When they found the students, they had an interesting encounter with a UFO along with the alien occupants of this UFO. The aliens were collecting bugs around the Mexico desert.

Now onward with this investigation at Pollack Pines! Chris and I, arrive at Nancy Bradley's home and waiting for us is Robert Reppert - Lead Investigator, Ronnie Roberts - Investigator - both work for Gold Rush Ghosts. Robert has a beautiful pick-up with Gold Rush Ghosts plastered all over the back and side windows. We load up a ton of ghost hunting equipment and head over to Ghost Mountain Ranch in Pollock Pines. When we arrive at this location, we are greeted by Angela DelGrande. She tells us that this location was once inhabited by the Miwok Indians. Angela introduces us to Carl Martin the owner of Ghost Mountain Ranch. Angela and Carl have a ton of ghost stories to share about Ghost Mountain Ranch. Here is a listing of some of the paranormal activities that happen here at this ranch. A ranch that looks like a miniature model of Tombstone, Arizona:

1. Angela takes the team to infamous Cabin 13, where a picture of a full body apparition was taken by a tourist. There was a miner that was murdered on the property and this may be the reason that this is the most haunted cabins in the area. The door has been known to be locked and will open on its own accord. I tested the door, it was locked and I managed to easily open the door. Robert checked out the door locking mechanism and found some discrepancies with the locking device, which could be the answer on why a locked door will open. Nancy Bradley who has visited Cabin 13 felt there may have been a drowning on this property in the 1920s. Note: There is a small pond near Cabin 13.

2. Orb lights have been seen darting here and there.

3. Music has been heard from the office area.

4. In the camping area, people have claimed to seen a mountain man walking about. People who stay overnight at this ranch have a name for this mountain man, they call him: 'Old Mountain Man'.

5. At the miner's cabin, a young boy fell from a great height and broke his neck, this is one of the tragedies that has happened on this property. People have felt negative energy at this location.

6. Doors start banging by themselves.

7. Strange noises are heard, the sounds of women laughing.

8. At the saloon, a patron claims his shirt was tugged or pulled.

9. A light figure darts across the room and is seen by patrons.

10. Stereo/CD Player turns on by itself and one song seems to be a favorite of the unknown entity, the song is Cheryl Crowe's Leaving Las Vegas.

11. An employee runs out scared out of his wits, he sees an apparition with a green shirt on.

12. Employee sees another employee outside smoking and standing next to a stranger. When the employee is asked who the stranger was, the employee claims he was by himself and no one was standing next to him.

13. During storms, when the ions are energizing the atmosphere, the doors will swing open and shut by themselves, making a big 'bam' noise.
14. Mechanism device for slicer has been missing for two years and then one day appears magically on the center of the counter.

15. A patron loses his hearing aid at the saloon, returns home and finds the lost hearing aid at his home.

16. New Year's Eve - doors flew open, doors slammed shut and doors shook like there was an earthquake. The unusual part of this, there was no wind outside.

Ghost Mountain Ranch is a very unusual place, let me try and describe it. I mentioned it looked like a miniature version of Tombstone, Arizona. Well, this is true, it has a small Western town inside, with an old saloon, arcade, jail, general store. It even has wells, a windmill and of course cabins. There is a horse stable not too far away. We even adventured down Old Creek Trail to Tee Pee Road (where there was once some real Indian Tee Pees at). There are two famous entities that haunt this location. There is Hans - the Old Miner (that was possibly murdered on this property) and the Old Mountain Man. When we checked out the Headmaster Cabin, we were told that the Old Mountain Man has appeared at this cabin. They say that Old Mountain Man is burly, wears a heavy jacket and large hat. When we were doing our investigation, the sound of ravens filled the air, which made the experience even more mystifying. Angela says that she always feels like something or somebody is watching her, her cats sometimes act like they see things that are not there.

When Angela was telling us this story, we could see the fog moving in slowly, talk about eerie! The ravens, the fog and all of these ghost stories! In the lodge area, guests have heard strange whistles, mysterious footsteps and the radio has turned on by itself many times. I met one of the guests, named Justin Dieteman. He tells me he has personally heard odd noises and footsteps. He has experienced the radio turning off and on by itself. He tells me that he knew of another patron being pushed and other patrons have witnessed items being flown off the shelves. Angela while giving us the grand tour, points to a well where patrons have heard women's voices coming from the well. Angela tells me to make sure to interview Bryan Rogers of the General Store...so, I walk over to the General Store and introduce myself to Bryan Rogers and he tells me that he has heard people walking on the roof, he says it sounds like 2 people walking on the roof. (Note: We discover in our investigation, there is a roof ladder that leads to the roof, we theorize that possibly animals can easily walk up this ladder to the roof). He tells me about ashtrays sliding on the bar, seeing a shadow in the office area. He says that in the saloon his friend Carl was pushed by an unseen force. He has heard footsteps in the bathroom area. Bryan shows me the jail safe and at one time a patron told other patrons if they could get the safe open, he would give them a $100.00 bill.

The next day the safe was found mysteriously opened. No one claimed the $100.00 prize. Before I left, Carl says he has another story, but it doesn't have anything to do with the ranch. He said at his own home he was visited by his friend Rick at the front doorway. Rick then somehow vanished. He learns a few minutes later that Rick died in a motorcycle accident. Later he finds out that Rick visited 6 other people on the day of his demise. He remembers this incident as if it happened yesterday. This experience will haunt him for the rest of his life. Shannon 'Ms. Macabre' McCabe calls and I give her a full report on our ongoing investigation, she asks later.."are you and Chris enjoying the snow?" I say..."what snow?" Hmmm...are we feeling the effects of global warming in Pollock Pines? Anyway, Shannon is pleased with the report.

Robert Reppert's Findings:
Robert picks up spikes (from temperature gauge) throughout the property.
Chris Grissom and I investigate the outside perimeters. With my Listen Up Sound Enhancer, I pick up a male voice that sounds like it says 'get out'. Chris and I hear a strange metallic grinding sound near the windmill. Robert Reppert discovers with a slight movement of the windmill, it will make a strange metallic grinding sound. Chris Grissom and I, smell burning wax outside of the Pony Express Building. Later the smell dissipates. Robert, Ronnie, Chris and I continue to investigate the outside perimeters. I am holding the thermal imager and pick up a heat source the size of a man, standing near the trees. We approach the heat source and at 15 feet, the heat source vanishes.

Robert Reppert's CONCLUSION (Note: These are the exact words of Robert Reppert):
"The site where the old west town is located has been reported to have been used for the old west show "The Virginian" in the 1960s'. Upon arriving, we found our host, "Angela" who related some of the history of the grounds as well as the tales of sightings and sounds. We at Gold Rush Ghosts have been to this site a few times for different events but have never been invited to do a full investigation before, so this was a great opportunity. We first went to Cabin 13, then to the old Miner's Cabin, and then to the old west town. Cabin 13 was located next to an old man-made pond and it was reported to us that the door would sometimes come open even when slammed shut and locked. Upon researching the latch on the door, it was found that the catch was not lined up with the door jam so that it would not fully engage and stay closed. The figure in the guest's picture would be great to see and Angela is currently trying to get it for us.

We proceeded down what was called Teepee Rd. which was more of a trail than a road, and Angela showed us several campsites and also where th residend bear likes to eat. We soon arrived at the Old Miner's Cabin and were allowed to search the building for any traces of spirit energy. The Building showed no abnormal signs or sounds according to our equipment. After this we moved on to the Old West Town. We set up our control base in the bar area where there was a stage for our camera equipment. We first conducted a sweep of each room with our EMF and Temp meters, keeping records of any spikes or places of interest for later use. After this we set-up the infrared cameras and recorders to see if we could catch any activity on film. We then proceeded to use the FLIR and other meters to see if we could confirm any of the reports of energy that we learned of with the interviews. When Paul and Chris came in from outside with the reports of hearing metal being dragged, I was intruiged to see if I could locate the source. With Rodney Roberts, Chris Grissom, Paul Dale Roberts and I outside searching for the mystery sound I made the discovery that it only took a slight air movement to move the windmill and create the sound that they heard.

We were never able to identify where the candle wax smell came from or what was causing it. We were then let into what is called the Blacksmiths shop, which is kind of a game arcade, where there were reports of footsteps heard on the roof. The building has a tin roof and we soon located a set of steps leading to the roof level of said building. We also found several pine cones on the ground by the building. On a hunch, we conducted an experiment by having someone throw a pinecone onto the roof while the others listened inside. The ones inside related that it was really loud inside when th cone hit and that it sounded like steps when it rolled off. This led us back to the saloon area to reposition the cameras and continue researching the outside areas. When we returned to the yard area, we were using the FLIR and also taking flash phtography of the area and buildings when we found a large heat source on the FlIR. We followed the image as it appeared to duck behind the treeline and then reappear. We searched the area around the treeline and also the horse arena to see if the horses may be setting the camera off, but the arena was set to far down the hill to be interfearing with the FLIR camera. We were never able to determine what the image was but we saved it for future reference. Gold Rush Ghosts and HPI will be doing further research into the Ranch as well as the area surrounding it as to try and explain some of the tales related to us on this investigation. This is a very worthy site to visit, and one that we will look into in the future."

The Spirit of Stephen Skeates
Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective
Sacramento Paranormal Investigations
Halo Paranormal Investigations

If you don't know who Stephen Skeates is, let me tell you, he is a comic book legend. Before I got into the world of paranormal investigating, I was heavily involved in the comic book industry. I published my own comic book called The Legendary Dark Silhouette, and I created over 100 issues of the (PCBN) Peoples' Comic Book Newsletter with my business partner the late Jeff Clifford. The PCBN was and still is a very well-known fanzine. The purpose of the PCBN was to promote upcoming comic book artists and writers. The PCBN is housed in many university libraries. Bowling Green University - Special Collections actually has every PCBN that was ever published. If you have a chance, check them out at:

INFORMATION FROM WIKIPEDIA:
A little bit about Steve Skeates. "In 1965, Skeates moved to New York City to become Stan Lee's assistant editor, (yes, that Stan Lee). This assignment largely required him to proofread finished comics. His lack of skill for this quickly became apparent, and Lee grew frustrated when obvious artwork errors were overlooked. Within two weeks, Roy Thomas became the new assistant, and Skeates was assigned to write westerns as compensation. Using his brief term as Lee's assistant as a calling card, Skeates picked up work at Tower, Charlton, DC, Gold Key, Red Circle, Archie, and Warren Publishing (for whom he wrote 72 stories from 1971 to 1975). His stories were illustrated by such artists as Jim Aparo, Dick Ayers, Gene Colan, Alex Toth, Gil Kane, Ogden Whitney, Ramona Fradon, Mike Grell, Wally Wood, and Dick Giordano."

STEPHEN SKEATES - EDITOR OF THE PEOPLES' COMIC BOOK NEWSLETTER
During my comic book collecting days, I read the stories that Steve Skeates created in publications like Aquaman, Hawk & Dove, T.H.U.N.D.E.R. Agents, Plop and Charlton's Mystery Anthology "The Many Ghosts of Doctor Graves." Steve Skeates was an incredible comic book writer. Steve knew how to throw the bait out there and hook you with his incredible stories. So, when Steve Skeates one day contacted me during my time publishing the PCBN and asked to subscribe to my newsletter, I was SHOCKED. Steve Skeates, an American Comic Book Creator and one time Stan Lee's Assistant Editor at Marvel Comics wanted to subscribe to the PCBN. Before I knew it, Steve Skeates started contributing stories for my newsletter and that is when I asked him if he would like to be the Editor of the Peoples' Comic Book Newsletter and he accepted! What an honor to have this legend on my staff.

MY VISION OF STEVE SKEATES
Now that you know my connection with Steve Skeates, I was subjected to a vision last night (7/19/2023). I have never claimed to be a psychic and the experience I had last night, I feel is real. I do not believe its because I have psychic abilities. Last night, I dreamed I was walking into this huge comic book library and sitting at a desk was Steve Skeates. I looked at Steve and said..."what are you doing here?" Steve looked up at me and said...."we had fun didn't we?" I noticed that Steve was reading a PCBN. I looked at Steve and said: "Yes, it was a blast and you contributed so much to the PCBN. I can't thank you enough." Steve looks up at me and says: "It was a pleasure, I had fun doing it and I better go now." To my dismay, Steve vanishes before my very eyes. The only thing that is left is the PCBN he was looking at, sitting on top of the desk. The dream ends and I wake up at 4:00 a.m. I get up and turn on my computer. It has been a long time since I talked with Steve and I thought to myself, perhaps I better call him. The first thing I did before searching for his phone number is to look at his Wikipedia and to my horror, I discover that Steve died on March 30, 2023!! I had no idea that Steve Skeates DIED!

Then it hit me. Steve Skeates came to visit me through a vision, a dream. I believe he was letting me know that he was okay in the afterlife. The dream was so vivid, I would have to call it a vision. I am still in a state of shock having this vivid dream or vision and finding out that Steve Skeates passed away. Steve Skeates accomplishments will live on forever. Godspeed Steve.

Subject: Shadow People & Ghosts Sat Jan 26, 2008 1:59 pm QUOTE

The date is February 23, 2007 and I have been contacted by H.P.I. (Haunted and Paranormal Investigations) of Northern California to investigate a residential haunting in West Sacramento.
West Sacramento is known to be a port of the Sacramento River. West Sacramento is a lazy industrial town that is connected to the Capitol of California, known to the world as the city of Sacramento. The location of the residence and the homeowners will not be identified. They requested confidentiality in regard to this investigation.

As I drove to this residence, I set the mood by listening to "Someone is Watching Me" by Rockwell and "Thriller" by Michael Jackson". I always love to psych myself out before going on an investigation.

Shannon McCabe is like Agent Jim Phelps from the TV show Mission Impossible (I.M. Force). She checks the bios of her investigators, looks over the pictures and determines who will be on the investigation team for any given case. For this case, the roll call included: Shannon McCabe - President of H.P.I. and Paranormal Investigator; Paul Dale Roberts - Ghost Writer/Paranormal Investigator; Alicia Perry - Paranormal Investigator/Video Manager; Mary Casiano - Paranormal Investigator; Brian Colbert - Equipment Operator/Paranormal Investigator.

Brian Colbert and Alicia Perry set up the HP Pavilion laptop, temperature meter, thermal infrared monitor device, audacity audio editing equipment, video cameras, digital cameras. The resident explained to us that her Chihuahua "Sierra" was sitting in the living room, looking towards the kitchen (the kitchen and living room are a "great room" with hanging cabinets between the two and a raised counter) and Sierra was staring at something for about 30 seconds. Then she slowly moved her gaze to the left until she was focusing on the doorway to the bedrooms. Then she trotted off to do something else. But about 15 minutes later she returned to the same spot and repeated the whole process again. And then when it happened a third time, the resident decided to take some digital pictures to see if she could catch whatever it was that Sierra was seeing, and captured clear images of what appears to be a shadow person. When Sierra was focused on the kitchen cabinets three times and barked frantically the resident started taking digital pictures and captured clear images of what appeared to be a shadow person.

Note: I want to make note that all pictures and videos that I mention in this article can be requested through Shannon McCabe - email: SNMProductionsco@yahoo.com.
The residents of this home keep a detailed log of video footage and pictures and will provide them to Shannon if requested. They will release any photos or video footage for the public's scrutiny.

The Shadow Person was captured by digital photos by the homeowner, as the homeowner went into a full circle snapping pictures, this occurred February 3, 2007, between 9pm and 10pm. I asked the homeowner how old the home was. She said it was built in 1939. Past stories of this residence are as follows:

a) When homeowners watch TV, they see what appears to be Shadow People at the corner of their eyes, darting around in the kitchen area.

b) Orbs seen floating around in kitchen in January 2007.

c) Video footage of one of their Chihuahuas looking at an orb. The dog Tuya just stopped in its tracks as the orb darted past her. This video was shown to me, a very clear picture of the orb and how the dog turned her head around to watch the orb.

d) Cupboards heard opening and slamming shut.

e) Baby crying sounds caught on EVP (Electronic Voice Phenomenon). The baby crying sounds occurred while homeowners slept.

f) The homeowners have lived in the house for 12 years and have witnessed ghostly spiders in the closet. One spider was as large as 6 inches in width. Also, pink orbs have been seen floating in the bedroom. A ghostly hand was seen at the bedside one night.

g) On one EVP, you can distinctly hear a mischievous woman spirit say 'do you want to hear a fart?" The EVP then records a child's laughter. Another EVP detects a woman's voice say 'What the hell do you want from us?"

h) One EVP recording sounded like a woman's voice saying either 'sister I love you' or 'Mary I love you!'. Then later there is a sound of Native American drums beating (what appears to sound like Native American drums beating).

i) The homeowners feel like they are being watched by unseen entities. One evening a candle flew off the TV set. Another day the coffee maker came on by itself. Homeowners said that when they moved into the home, something just didn't feel right about the house. The house was even blessed, but the hauntings continued. The resident felt that a negative presence was somehow attached to a built-in workbench in the garage. She and her father tore it out and took it to the dump, hoping the presence would leave with it. However, a roommate shortly afterwards had a frightening experience in which something brushed up against her, thumped into the window and thrashed about the blinds. She called the homeowner, scared out of her wits, saying she thought the entity wanted to hurt her. When the mother of the homeowner came over to visit, she slept on the couch and something awoke her in the middle of the night. She was heard screaming, "Get behind me Satan!". She didn't know what frightened her, just that it was something negative and she knew to tell it to leave. She would never explain what she saw. Another guest merely had something touch her shoulder as to comfort her.

j) The other homeowner claims that she was induced with 3 vivid dreams by the entity, in sequential order, one dream per night, three nights in a row. 1st dream was 1st Dream: That both home owners were in the living room home owner #1 said to home owner #2 (the one dreaming) to look in the middle of the living room very intently and you can barely make out the features of a female face. #2 homeowner proceeded to stare and the entity started to manifest into a person, until she was able to see a woman, in her late 30's, early 40's. She was dressed in a black blouse with a lighter skirt (1800's style). Her hair was dark and pulled back in a bun. Her face looked serious. 2nd Dream: This took place in the home's kitchen, and home owner #2 was looking out the kitchen side door and she could see in the distance a tall, thin man dressed in old western garb. And he was staring at her and he appeared to be floating above the ground. 3rd Dream: This one took place in a "mall" of some sort, both home owners were present. And all of a sudden a little girl 15 months to 2 years old came running up to #2, she had long dark, curly hair with big beautiful brown eyes. She came up to #2, smiling and hugged her by the neck as #2 bent down to her. And then all of a sudden a woman came up and grabbed the child and took her by the arm and walked away with her. And the child started screaming in protest. As #2 was watching this, the woman stopped in the doorway and turned and looked back at her. Her hair was pulled up into a bun on top of her head. She had a light colored blouse and long dark skirt (early 1900's style). And somebody that was standing nearby said, "she's a nun".

As I walked around the room, I felt a spike of cold air hit my arm. Another time, I felt static energy on my leg. As I sat in the middle of the kitchen, orbs flew all around me. This was captured on the TV monitor. I could look at the TV monitor while sitting in the kitchen and orbs were flying around my legs, across my chest, around my head. I could see on the live TV monitor, 3 orbs flying in unison. When Shannon sat in the middle of the kitchen, orbs circled and engulfed her and even appeared to chase her around the kitchen. Then an incredible amount of orbs, some small, some as huge as a grapefruit circled around Alicia Perry. This was all captured on video. Shannon, Alicia and I lightly touched a wine glass with one finger and enticed the spirit to move the glass through our bodies. Our fingers delicately touched the outside rim of the glass and the glass moved deliberately three times. On the live video, you could see the orbs go through Alicia's body, down her arm and through her fingers when the glass was moving. Everyone was stunned at the footage! I practically fell out of my chair in disbelief. Every time the glass moved, an orb would go down someone's arm and through their fingers. At some point of time, when I was enticing the spirit Izzy (you will see how she got this name later in this article), I felt a cold spot on my leg, that felt like a cold hand, I was completely astonished!

Shannon, Mary and I felt a cold spot together and this occurred around 9:44pm. At 10:03pm, the footstool in the living room starts rocking on its own. Chino, another pet Chihuahua detects a presence and is focused on one part of the room and the temperature meter detects a cold spot at the area where Chino is focused upon. At 10:07pm, Mary and I feel another cold spot near the kitchen. As all of the investigators watched the video footage, we would tell the entity Isabel or Izzy to have 2 orbs fly by for a 'yes' and 3 orbs to fly by for a 'no'. The homeowner feels the entity's name is Isabel or Izzy, because this is what a medium told her and another entity by the name of George shows up.

By going through years, we determined when Izzy died, it was 1913, in the month of July. I would say, I will name off months, fly by once during the month of your death. When I said July, a huge orb flies by. I confirm this by doing the months again and when I reach July, another orb flies by confirming that it was the month of July. By using this technique we gathered that Izzy is in her 20s, died of some kind of heart failure. That she absolutely loves the homeowners, that she protects them from a portal in which George, a shadow person or other entities may enter near and around the garage area by the back of the kitchen. Izzy keeps the other entities at bay. She did some strong confirmation on this, with flying orbs. We asked about the crying baby we heard on the EVP and Izzy said the baby went to heaven and that she would help out in finding a ring that George (another spirit) hid.

West Sacramento is known as a port to riverboaters, but it also seems to hide another secret. A portal in an undisclosed home in this sleepy little town. May Izzy always be the guardian to this portal.

An added note: There was a follow-up on the EVPs, in which the female ghost called one of the investigators a leprechaun (because of her size?), the EVP sounds like it says..."that's what you think leprechaun!" Another EVP says..."should I f with her?' or words to that effect.
